

Transcript of Video-Audio Clip with Dr. John Vozenilek, vice president/chief medical officer, OSF Innovation & Digital Health

“We are implementing programs with data science. We’re looking into advanced technologies for data security. We’re looking for ways that our connection with the campus can solve problems in health equity and really advance the health care of patients, even despite the COVID crisis and we really look forward to the future where someday, we have a new normal and we can really rejoice in the time spent well in doing this research.” (:27)