

As part of its ongoing investment in the Bloomington/Normal community, OSF HealthCare is building a new primary care and PromptCare office in Normal, Illinois.

On Friday, OSF HealthCare joined community members and town leaders for a ceremonial groundbreaking. Construction is already underway at the site, located at 1765 Bradford Lane in Normal.

The $5 million, 13,125 square foot medical office building will include 24 exam rooms, with room for 10 providers.

From primary care services to PromptCare, the new medical office building will provide services tailored to each patient, no matter how they hope to access health care.

“To be successful going forward, we have to provide multiple avenues of access for the patient, but also tie into a larger health care system that can then deal with that problem if it becomes more serious, in a coordinated fashion,” said Dr. Richard Ginnetti, Director of Physician Practice for OSF HealthCare’s Eastern Region.

The OSF Medical Office Building in Normal will also feature laboratory and imaging services. It is scheduled to open in July of 2018.
