(March 3, 2026 | PEORIA, Illinois) – OSF HealthCare has been named to Becker's Healthcare 165 top places to work in healthcare for 2026.

Workforce challenges remain front and center for healthcare organizations, making the recruitment and retention of top talent more critical than ever. Hospitals, health systems and healthcare companies that prioritize employee development, actively listen to their teams, provide flexible work environments, and offer competitive benefits consistently foster higher engagement and stronger satisfaction.

The organizations featured on this list distinguish themselves as premier employers by supporting their teams in meaningful, holistic ways. From comprehensive wellness initiatives and professional growth opportunities to community engagement and cultures rooted in connection and balance, these workplaces are redefining what it means to thrive in healthcare.

The Becker's Hospital Review editorial team accepted nominations for this list. The team also assessed rankings and awards from reputable organizations such as Forbes, Newsweek, Great Place to Work and more. The list is intended to highlight health systems and healthcare companies that positively influence their employees and communities.

The full list features individual profiles of all hospitals, health systems and companies on the list, and can be read here.

Note: Organizations do not pay and cannot pay for inclusion on this list. Organizations are presented in alphabetical order and separated into provider and company sections.
