Excited about the new name :41

It was a focused discernment to come to that point of a decision of renaming our facility and we're very happy about it. As our two congregations came together and discussed ways that we could reflect our new partnership one way was in the renaming of the medical facility so that it would communicate and demonstrate our commitment to this new partnership and the strong heritage.

Likes how the OSF name sounds :29

It sounds so good because it is so good we're very happy about that and we feel that that will communicate to all of those that were called to serve that this is a new partnership with new beginnings and yet we're still here and we have a commitment to continue serving the needs of the people in these neighborhoods.

LCM Sisters are happy :28

The sisters are very happy that we are going into a partnership with a Catholic health care system, we feel there's a very good fit between the two cultures and the Missions. We're just so grateful that we are in this journey now with OSF HealthCare.
